

Emerging Leaders Alliance

The Emerging Leaders Alliance seeks to foster leadership in the engineering and scientific community through professional leadership training. In addition to technical competency, today’s engineering leaders need broad skills to meet the real problems facing mankind, including energy, sustainability and health care.

By sending multiple key employees or members* to the training, you receive promotional benefits and tuition discounts. 2011 regular pricing is $1500 per participant. To participate, please complete and return this form with payment. Sponsorship will promote your company to the engineering and scientific community and the upcoming engineering leaders, and let them know that effective leadership is important to the future of your organization and/or industry. (Check your Sponsorship Level below.)

Alliance Sponsor - $4,000 As an Alliance Sponsor, your company is invited to have up to five (5) participants in the program at nearly 50% off ($800 each). Your company logo will be on the ELA website and other promotional materials, capstone signage, and attendee certificates and training materials.

Capstone Sponsor - $3,000 As a Capstone Sponsor, your company is invited to have three (3) participants in the program at 33% off ($1,000 each). Your company logo will be on the ELA website and other promotional materials, as well as capstone training signage.

Promotional Sponsor - $2,500 As a Participant sponsor, your company is invited to have two (2) participants in the program at 17% off ($1,250 each). Your company logo will be on the ELA website and other promotional materials.

NOTE: Travel expenses are not included.
